

I very much value the high quality service provided by sonic.net I would be very unhappy if I'm forced to move to another provider and feel the level of support and service would diminish